Myths and Legends from around the world

PASSPORT QUESTION

The International passports give children an opportunity to learn interesting facts about many of the countries represented at the festival. Each country provides a question related to this year's festival theme "Myths and Legends from around the World". The selected questions will be displayed on the final paper passport. The questions should be formatted with multiple choice answers.

Helpful tips: Make sure to include a fact about your country before asking the actual question.

Example: The United States has the fourth largest forest estate of any nation. About 33 percent of the United States is forested. These forests are home to a legendary monster named "Sasquach". Because of its unique body shape, it is nicknamed:
